You’ll be able to:

Learn to use project documents and blueprints as a basis for estimating.

Define cost components including labor, material, equipment, bonding and insurance.

Identify standard formats, templates, and tools for organizing cost estimates.

Calculate quantity take-offs and pricing of materials including concrete, masonry, wood, metals, plastics and more.

Consider the relationship between cost estimating, value engineering and project scheduling.
Faculty

Ha Yeung (Henry) Yu, P.E., LEED Green Associate, CTS, is currently a senior cost engineer at the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey. He is a licensed professional engineer, a LEED green associate and a certified technology specialist who has extensive experience in planning and managing diverse construction projects ranging from small to large-scale industries, which gives him an in-depth understanding of engineering design and construction management.

Mr. Yu’s areas of expertise include heavy civil construction, cost estimating, value engineering, project scheduling, feasibility studies, and risk analysis, including identification of cost and schedule impacts. He has conducted cost estimating training programs by invitation of the New York City Economic Development Corporation. Mr. Yu has been teaching cost estimating and project management lectures for more than ten years for the New York City Local 3 electricians, plumbers, carpenters and workers of other trades at the SUNY Empire State College and the Mechanics Institute of the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen.

Here’s what past attendees had to say about the program and instructor Henry Yu:

“Very informative.” – Civil Engineer

“Very personable. Made subject matter interesting.” – Architect

“Excellent speaker.” – Mechanical Engineer
